Decatur United Church of Christ was founded on Easter Sunday of 1992, when twelve people gathered for worship. The congregation was originally chartered as Christ Covenant MCC, a congregation of Metropolitan Community Churches.

They began meeting in Stone Mountain and created a mission to build nurturing, diverse community; to develop worship and programs that explore faith in light of feminist liberation theologies; to offer meaningful, creative, convergent worship; and to focus outward in service to our community.

The Rev. Glenna Shepherd served as founding pastor. Under her leadership, the congregation reached a membership of over 300, with over 200 in weekly attendance. Systems and structures were carefully created, equipping lay leaders and providing for the programmatic and pastoral development of the congregation. They gave birth to another congregation and established ministry partnerships with a number of community organizations.

On July 1, 2010, they entered the next exciting phase of their ministry as they began the process of affiliation with The United Church of Christ. On November 7, 2010, the congregation unanimously voted to officially become affiliated with the UCC, and on January 9, 2011, adopted the name Decatur United Church of Christ, opening a new and exciting chapter in the life of the congregation.

They would love for you to visit – either in person or online for their live-streamed services – and join in the incredible spirit moving through our their community!

Additional Annual Meeting Information

FOR SUCH A TIME AS THIS FOR YOUTH

Join your peers in conversation and activities that will help determine what the youth of the Southeast Conference can be doing for such a time as this. This is the time to think about what young people offer to the ministry of the Conference. This is the time for young people to share what good things are happening already. This is the time to dream about and talk about what the youth presence could and should be in the leadership and activities of the Southeast Conference. Make your presence known to the community as we share stories, dream dreams, and make plans for the future.

SHARE THE GOOD NEWS OF YOUR MINISTRY

One of the things that we all need to do is to share the good news of the ministry that goes on in our churches and communities. Every congregation and ministry in the Southeast Conference is invited to bring a poster size display on foam core to display at the annual meeting to share their good news of ministry. It may be a display about a special project or an ongoing ministry in the church or an overview of many ministries that touch lives in the congregation and the community.

Perhaps you are celebrating an historical milestone this year or a significant anniversary or some recognition that the congregation has received. Whatever it is, please share your Good News. All posters will be displayed in the meeting venue so we can see and celebrate and get ideas about all the great and wonderful ways that we witness to the presence of God, answer the call of Christ, and are empowered by the Holy Spirit to serve one another and all of creation.

Memorial Service

One member of each congregation should be prepared to read the names of church members who have died since June 2013.

Roll Call

At the beginning of the Business Meeting one member of each congregation should be prepared to report the number of clergy, delegates, youth and visitors present.
